

What are long and short term indicators of climate change, and how do we know what changes can be attributed to human vs. natural causes?

